PROFESIONAL LIFE:

Since 2000: Head of Environmental Consultants at "S.W.Hand – E.M.S.". Goals: I advised an Iron Foundry and a Company of Environmental Services for the Implantation of their Environmental Managing Systems. Both Companies are performing the trial period (generating records) in order to get ready for the Certification ISO 14001.

Since 1998: Head of Environmental Consultants for QA Service SA. Goals: I drove an Enterprise of Industrial Waste Management and another one dedicated to Industrial Biochemistry, to get the ISO 14001 Certificate (The certificates were released by TÜV CERT, Germany). I prepared the Environmental Managing Manuals, the Procedures and the Operative Instructions. I prepared and offered the course: "Methodology for the Implantation of an Environmental Managing System" in Nov/98, Set/99 and Oct/00.

Since 1995: Manager of Technology in a Consulting Company (MONDITEC SA). Goals: I put together and led a multidisciplinary group for the development of techniques of Microbially Enhanced Oil Recovery and Bioremediation of contaminated soils. I adjusted different technologies for managing dangerous wastes. I patented a procedure to transform certain dangerous wastes into environmentally friendly construction materials (Dir. Nac. Prop. Ind. Acta # 0333760). I prepared several Environmental Impact Reports.

1990-1995: Head of the Department of Toxic Wastes at the Argentinean Atomic Energy Commission (CNEA). Goals: I put together and led a multidisciplinary group to study Vitrification and ceramisation of toxic waste techniques. I developed numerical methods for failure detection in Nuclear Reactors (CANDU type). I represented CNEA at the National Committee for the agreement with the ISO 14000 Series in Argentina. I prepared several Environmental Impact Reports for CNEA activities.

1988-1990: Researcher and Assistant Professor at Chemistry Department, State University of New York at Albany, NY-USA. Goals: I implemented a numerical method for the representation of functions of several variables in terms of functions of one single variable following Kolmogorov's solution to Hilbert's 13th problem (ref. 15).

1984-1990: Associate Member of the International Centre for Theoretical Physics (ICTP), Trieste-Italia. Goals: I developed a theory for the Transport on Non-Electrolytes through the Cell Membrane.

1982-1987: Assistant Researcher at Baker Lab, Cornell University, Ithaca, NY-USA and Courant Institute, NYU, New York, NY-USA. Goals: I investigated several scientific and technological problems. The results were published in international journals. The main research field was the Theory of Complex Fluids.

1979-1982: Scientific researcher and professor of Physics at UNLP. Goals: I got my Doctorate in Physics and published several scientific articles.
